200 ATTEND FIRST RALLY-BANQUET

Members of Thirty Graduate Classes at First of Annual Gatherings

N. Y. ALUMNI WIRE SUPPORT

Speeches by Eight Alumni Follow 4-Course Dinner

"We are going to win because we deserve to win"—words spoken by President John M. Thomas, toastmaster, sounded the key-note of the First Rally-Banquet Friday evening in McCullough Gymnasium at which over two hundred alumni, undergraduates and faculty members were in attendance and paved the way for Middlebury's sweeping victory over Vermont on the following day. President Thomas' words of confidence were echoed in the addresses of seven other members of the graduate body and in a telegram from the New York Alumni Association, "We expect a smashing victory Saturday—tear into them", during the evening.

The toastmaster's introductory remarks were preceded by an elaborate four-course dinner prepared under the direction of Mrs. Maude O. Mason and served by twenty men undergraduates to the guests seated at four long tables arranged in "M" formation in addition to the one reserved for speakers. A statement from Chairman L. B. Law shows that the number of paid reservations was eighty-seven for undergraduates and alumni, this number not including a number of paid admissions at the door and several alumni, among whom was P. M. Meldon '80, of Rutland one of the principal speakers for the occasion, who were unable to attend as had originally been planned.

Representatives of more than thirty classes were present and included Dr. Merrit H. Eddy '60, Middlebury, one of the fifteen oldest living alumni of the College and a member of one of the first six classes which now maintains an active roll. The Board of Trustees was represented by three of its members, Dr. J. W. Abernathy '76, Burlington, Hon. J. E. Weeks, Middlebury, and President Thomas. While the dinner was in progress in McCullough Gymnasium a similar banquet was being served members of the football squad with Coach and Mrs. Dave Morey as guests, in Hepburn Hall.

In opening the evening's speaking at 8:20 o'clock President Thomas reminded the gathering of its purpose, to enlist every ounce of support towards winning the season's great classic. He pleaded for an upholding of America's greatest non-professional sport from the taint of gambling or any other degrading influence and asked for a display of gentlemanliness on the part of Middlebury men on the following afternoon in their relations with the visiting team. The speaker introduced Gamaliel Painter's Cane, clothed in its mantle of Old Glory following Middlebury's defeat in baseball last spring at the hands of Vermont and reminded of the added incentive for victory.

Introduced as the best known man at the banquet, Dr. George R. Drake '02, Plymouth, Pa., All-American end for University of Pennsylvania and a pitcher of wide renown in his college days opened his remarks with the statement that his returning for the Middlebury-Vermont game had become an annual occasion. Describing his love for football as "a man's game"

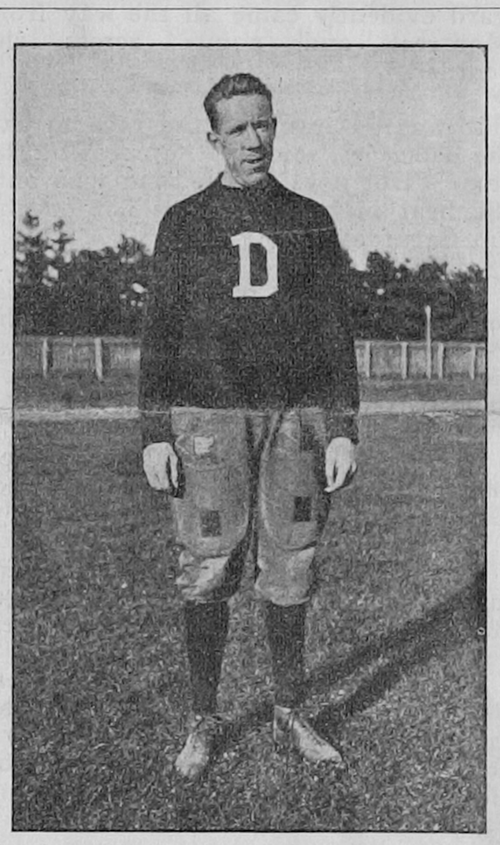
MOREY TO STAY AT MIDDLEBURY

Will Coach Baseball and Football Next Year

CONTRACT IS SIGNED MONDAY

Hepburn Fund Enables Development of Permanent Coaching Staff

By the signing of a year's contract with administrators of the Hepburn Athletic Fund Monday, Dave Morey, assistant football coach during the past season, has been retained as head coach of the baseball squad next spring as well as for the 1921 football season. Coach and Mrs. Morey have gone to the former's home in Malden, Mass., for a brief vacation but will return December 1, to take up their permanent residence in Middlebury.



Coach Dave Morey

While in Dartmouth College, from which institution he graduated in 1913, Morey was for three years a star halfback on the Green eleven and during the last two years of his college career was Walter Camp's All-American selection for that position. As first string pitcher for three seasons, as captain of 'Varsity baseball in 1913 and as a leading member of Dartmouth basketball and track teams during his junior and senior years his rank as an all-around athlete was no less marked. The entirely commendable results of his work with the Middlebury eleven this fall as assistant to Coach Arthur M Brown is but one more addition to his long string of successes in turning out strong teams since graduation.

The action of the Hepburn Fund administrators in retaining Coach Morey for the two sports is considered especially fortunate by reason of the provision which it makes for a permanent coaching staff, a step which has long been advocated by men intimately concerned with (Middlebury athletics. Mr. Morey's residence here during the winter months will afford a thorough preparation for both of the major sport seasons next year.

Glee Club Elects

F. P. Carrigan '21 and G. A. Swan '21 were elected manager and leader, respectively, of the Glee Club last night.

TWO FIELD GOALS WIN FROM VERMONT IN LAST GAME OF FOOTBALL SEASON; WHISTLE CHECKS FURTHER SCORING

GOLLNICK CHOSEN FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Star Fullback Has Played on 'Varsity Two Years; A Hard Consistent Player

At a meeting of the twelve letter men of the football squad Monday afternoon Albert F. Gollnick of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, was elected to lead the eleven for the 1921 season. "Al" has been a member of the squad for three years making a position at end on the team during the S. A. T. C. in his freshman year, although he was only able to participate in the first game as he was ill with the "flu" and out for the rest of the season. On last year's State Championship team he played a strong game at full back and has held down the same place on this season's team when injuries have not kept him out of the game. The new leader is fortunate in having the qualities of a good football player, in that he is a hard, consistent player who has it in his power to use his head well and instill confidence into the men playing with him.

Captain Gollnick's athletic ability is varied as he is a letter man in track, his specialties being the pole-vault and discus. He was a member of last season's tennis team, holding the College championship in that sport in 1919. "Al" is also a member of the Student Council, Sages, and the Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity. Middlebury is fortunate to have such an all around man and clean sportsman as a starter toward making the 1921 season a success, and a leader to go against Vermont and Norwich in the State Championship series who will be a worthy successor to Jack Mead and the line of football leaders behind him.

CELEBRATION FOLLOWS SATURDAY'S VICTORY

Gamaliel Painter's Cane Appears During Evening Ceremonies

A mildly enthusiastic celebration followed Middlebury's 6-0 victory over Vermont Saturday. At seven-thirty o'clock the Old Chapel bell summoned students, faculty and alumni together for a final show of appreciation nto the victorious team. Football men available were piled into autos which led the procession down the campus to the residence of President Thomas on South street.

In response to cheers Dr. Thomas appeared with Gamaliel Painter's famous cane, which by virtue of the Vermont defeat could be unfurled from the flag which has draped it since last June. Dr. Thomas spoke a few words of praise for the team and joined in the line of march which led to the center of the town where the team and coaches were given individual cheers.

Captain Jack Mead set the match to the huge pile which the Freshmen had collected between the gym and the power house and, in a flash, a roaring blaze lighted the campus and crimsoned the sky, proclaiming once again the prowess of the Middlebury football team. The singing of the Alma Mater concluded the evening's celebration.

Quackenbush's Two Kicks Made From 25-Yard Line in First and Final Quarters

ASHLEY MAKES 40-YARD RUN

Intercepted Pass Carries Ball to Visitor's 1-Yard Line On Last Play

On Saturday Middlebury met U. V. M. in the final game of the football season of 1920 and the Blue and White once more lowered the colors of the Green and Gold in a 6-0 defeat. It was the drop kicking of quarterback Quackenbush that turned the trick, for out of three tries made when the Middlebury eleven had brought the ball into a possible scoring position, two were successful. Once in the first period when the first score meant in all probability the game, the attempt was made from the 25 yard line and the Middlebury line held just long enough for the quarter back to drop over a perfect kick. In the last quarter the second score was made from the same yard line but on a much more difficult angle. The final trial was in the same period from the 40 yard mark and was blocked by Vermont. The one attempt by Bellerose of U. V. M. to tally by the kicking method resulted in a kick that just cleared the line of scrimmage and ran along on the ground.

The punting game, which both teams were continually forced to use, was interfered with to a marked degree by a strong northwest wind. The forward pass was attempted more times by Vermont than by Middlebury but neither side were able to use it to advantage. The Middlebury line, outweighed as it was, showed up to better advantage inopening up holes than the U. V. M. opponents, while the respective back fields seemed about evenly matched.

Middlebury's First Ssore

First quarter. Vermont kicked off to Quackenbush who received on the 30 yard line and ran the ball back about 8 yards. On the first play the same man made first down around left end. Drost went through tackle for three yards, Gollnick made another yard gain, and two plays running Ashley gave Midd another first down. Drost made a three yard gain; Quackenbush failed to gain; and then Drost went off tackle for 10 yards and another first down. A fake placement kick gave Ashley first down. The Vermont line tightened up and Quackenbush and Ashley failed to gain more than two yards on the next three plays. Then Quackenbush dropped back to the 25 yard line and kicked a drop over for the first score. Midd kicked off with a short kick to Johnson who was nailed by Keppler in a clean tackle before he had gone five yards. Johnson made three yards around right end. Moynahan broke through and got Semansky for a loss. Johnson made another two yards and Bellerose punted to Gollnick. Drost made a slight gain and then Ashley punted to Semansky. Ashley cut off Bellerose after he made four yards around right end. Keppler broke through and got Johnson before he had started. Bellerose punted out of bounds on the 45 yard line. Both

Victory

Middlebury has won from Vermont. The prophecy of the Rally-Banquet has seen its fulfillment and Gamaliel Painter's Cane is proudly displayed before the public, symbolical of a fact which, continued for six years, has woven the tradition that Middlebury shall not submit to the athletic superiority of Vermont in football.

Disappointed though they were, Vermont's loyal hundreds left Porter Field with the conviction that her opponents played better football, and deserved to win. Middlebury, out-weighed and menaced by severe injuries sustained in past encounters, displayed a more thorough knowledge of the game. Her men clearly demonstrated their superiority in both offensive and defensive tactics, in drive, speed and in breaking up the Green interference. The better team won.

The victory is a double one,—for team and for system. The ecstasy attending success has not obscured the real factors contributory to it, in the minds of undergraduates. Middlebury won, not through any extraordinary aptitude on the part of its own representatives nor because of a corresponding inferiority on the part of its opponents, but through the consummation of a more thorough season's training, a more careful attention to every detail in the routine drill, a more thorough division into terms of the individual of the general concept, teamplay, than has ever before been achieved in Middlebury coaching and made possible this year by the greatly increased facilities for such specialization. The victory of Middlebury over Vermont was the victory of the steady, thorough-going coaching of two experts, for a whole season, over the concentrated, intensive and spasmodic drill of a few weeks.

Middlebury has not won a state championship this year. It has been obliged to content itself with the triumph over a time-honored rival. But Middlebury is not disappointed. In the consistent, epoch-making record of its eleven up to and including the Stevens game and last Saturday, were laid the foundations of future greatness. When it is remembered that though three of this year's 'Varsity are to retire by graduation there still remains an hitherto unequalled wealth of rapidly developing material, there is ample ground for such expressions of confidece in the superiority of subsequent elevens as undergraduates are wont to express.

Middlebury is proud of her great eleven. She is grateful to those whose loyalty and forethought have made this season's coaching staff the most efficient, result-producing in the history of Blue athletics. The achievements of both have this year shortened materially the distance which remains to be covered before Middlebury will attain her just standing with respect to other New England colleges —the aim of every loyal alumnus and undergraduate.

The Open Door

As the year progresses we are reminded of a matter of initial importance to the freshman, which was brought to our attention by the Dean of Women at the beginning of the season. This is the matter of participation in college activities.

The various organizations of our campus were planned for the sole purpose of benefiting the student by offering an outlet for reserve energy and also by discovering and cultivating talents which otherwise might remain dormant throughout an entire college career. The difficulty seems to lie in the fact that freshmen are either unwilling to recognize their possibilities or reticent about making them known. Such modesty is becoming, but detrimental to the individual and to the college.

Are you interested in music? If so, the field for exercise of musical ability is the college choir, the orchestra, or any of the various musical organizations, according to individual taste Gifted with almost any talent, one may find an "open sesame" to one's own particular sphere. However, if you are addicted to poetical lapses, do not think that your place is necessarily on the Campus Board, which is not primarily a literary institution. Quite as dangerous as false modesty is lack of appreciation of one's limitations.. Successful organizations of the type which exist on the Middlebury campus are necessary requisites to the prestige of a college. Therefore, besides the desire for the attainment of personal ends, there should exist a spirit of interest and cooperation for the advancement of the cause.

The time for adjustment to whatever line of activities the student intends to adopt, is during the freshman year. Don't wait until your junior or senior year to get into things. The opportunities are waiting for you to seize while your enthusiasm is fresh and your attention is not subject to as much distraction as is apt to be the case later. Then, if your interest is sincere, it will not be apt to wane. These organizations need you for the sake of the college, and you need them for the sake of the man or woman you would be.

John Kopke '12, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has received an appointment to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis following a recent examination. He has been released by the Torrington School faculty, Torrington, Conn., in order to enable his acceptance of the new position.

The Periscope

We respectfully refer you to the prediction made in The Periscope on November 3, 1920.

After all is said and done the fact remains that it was a great old game and the Middlebury men all played great old games.

Some people are never satisfied. We heard them worrying because Stan Ashley had nnot been able to stretch that last long run of his a few inches farther so that the score might have been 13-0 instead of 6-0.

Query: Which is better, A 20-14 or a 6-0 victory?
Answer: Both.

Zeph Boulia's confidence has returned. We sincerely hope that he made enough on the game to warrant a general decrease in the price of hair cuts.

Fashion has decreed that cigars shall more than ever be in evidence on the campus.

Some of the rooters from the northward evidently came all the way from Montreal and points across the boarder.

It was an insult to the race to call the delicacies, sold by the coeds at the game, "Hot dogs". The man who puts the heat in hot dogs was not on the job Saturday.

It is our own opinion that "Aristotle" Wheeler won the prize in the P-rade hands down. He was so realistic Billy Farrell is getting worried about his job.

Something is wrong. Charlie Rich came through the P-rade unscathed. Carlyle Coates can't understand it.

The Reinbrecht-MacDonnell team, famous in the P-rade two years ago, still holds the record for Class Babies

The Freshmen are showing real promise. We refer especially to the men who borrowed (?) Prof. Bonney's coat and hat and a section of the clothes line etc., from the Homestead.

We hate to believe it but it is nevertheless true that Gamaliel Painter's w. k. cane was really presented to the college by one John Martin. Gamaliel probably sported a cane in his day but it was not the one we are familiar with.

We are betting on 1924 in the annual Freshman-Sophomore game. Cut this out and tear it up.

The Stute (Stevens Inst. of Tech.) says that "Middlebury College has arranged a series of week-end trips to the Battell Forests."—Offered with kindly suggestions to Dean Bonney.

The Waubanakees seem to have broken rushing rules. We saw one of the familiar hatchet hats on a lad in the village and upon questioning that individual, our reporter learned that he was Harry Harper of the 6th grade. Harper intends to enter college with the class of 1931. He would not, however, admit that he had been pledged.

The man who so unjustly accused us of purloining the electric light bulbs from the Economics room must have figured that where we eat they serve light meals. Or perhaps he was jealous and wanted to see if he could get lit up on them.

Now that mid-semesters and the Vermont game are both over, we can return again to normal life until the Sophomore Hop. K. A. B.

FRATERNITY BANQUETS HELD

Alpha Sigma Phi

The annual initiation banquet of Alpha Sigma Phi was held at the Addison House Saturday evening at eleven o'clock, and was attended by forty active members and alumni and guests. The alumni back for the occasion were E. C. Cole '15, A. J. Parker '16, W. MacMurtry '13, G. N. Christian '18 and C. G. Lyon '18. Guests at the banquet were W. Arms of the University of Vermont, N. B. Durkee of Lynn, Mass., and J. Prescott of Boston, Mass.

Kappa Delta Rho

The annual initiation banquet of the Alpha Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho was held Saturday evening, November 13th, at the fraternity house on South St. The alumni present were: R. M. Spooner, '08, W. H. Carter, '10; R. A. Twitchell, '11; Prof. Wilfred E. Davison, '13; J. F. Hough, '14; Earl F. Horsford, '17; R. E. English, '18; R. E. Dake, '18; and H. B. Harris, '20.

Student Government Convention

The Middlebury delegates, Carleta A. Ottman '21 and Ruth E. Coolidge '22, have returned from the Annual Conference of the Women's Inter-Collegiate Association for Student Government, which was held at Elmira College, Elmira, New York on the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth of November.

They have reported that a very largely attended and imspiring convention was held, the purpose of which was to discuss the different problems of Student Government presented by various colleges. Representatives from more than thirty colleges east of the Mississippi were present, Elmira College seeming an especially appropriate place for the convention to be held, as it is the oldest college for women in the country.

Home Economics Club Formed

At the first meeting of the Home Economics Club held in Pearsons social hall Tuesday, November 9, the following officers were elected: President, Janet M. Taylor '21; vice-president, Julia B. Sullivan '22; secretary-treasurer, Margaret B. Jenkins '22; chairman executive committee, Ruth B. Johnson '21; members, Marian E. Willey '22, Esther Frost '23.

WOMEN STAGE BIG FOOTBALL RALLIES

"We're With Them";Slogan of Friday's Meeting; Football Men Speak

Not to be outdone by the men, the women of the college conducted a most successful campaign last week to promote a maximum amount of "pep" and enthusiasm for the Vermont game. Two gatherings were organized and carried out by a committee acting for the Women's Athletic Association.

The first meeting was held last Wednesday evening in Pearsons social hall where Captain Mead enlightened a large audience of women concerning the rudiments of football. After a brief explanation of some of the more important principles of the game, questions were answered by Captain Mead. The meeting was brought to a close with a few words from Manager Noonan as to the sort of spirit necessary to help the team come through successfully.

The second gathering took the form of a rally Friday evening and was preceded by a unique exhibition in the dining room at Battell Cottage. The girls sitting at one table dressed in blue and white, wearing Middlebury arm bands. They entered leading a veiled figure clothed entirely in black and bearing a U. V. M. banner. The presence of such a skeleton at the feast did not seem to detract from the hilarity of the occasion. Later, in Pearsons social hall, a large number of women gathered and the rally took the form of a program arranged by the Athletic Association committee.

First a clever musical sketch entitled "I Want to be a Great Big Football Man" was skillfully rendered by Dorothy Douglas, Madeline MacDonald, and Helen Bolton, all wearing full football regalia. The slogan adopted for the occasion was "We're with them! Who's with them? We're with them!" A speech by Ruth Aldrich '21 was followed by speeches by several other prominent members of the Association. Songs and cheers were led by Dorothy Mackay and Dorothy Douglas '22, who were chosen as song leaders for the game. The final event was a snake dance, terminated by the singing of "Alma Mater".

Spanish Table at Battell

A Spanish table, with Senorita Rodriguez as head, has been started in the Battell dining room. The table accommodates nine students, a different group each week. There is much interest among the girls in this experiment and all are eager to make use of this opportunity for conversing in Spanish.

he declared that it was never well played professionally but alone through a love for the game and for the institution. "Athletics", he added, "detract nothing from study if you want to study".

Attributing the growth of Middlebury to the efforts of a few men whose ambition it has been to turn out real Americans the speaker lauded the purpose of the Rally-Banquet which he defined as being to bring alumni to see and breathe again Middlebury spirit far more than to win alone, the latter merely furnishing the inspiration for the occasion.

Declaring that the day of the "Big Three" in athletics was passed he pleaded for a concentration of effort toward attaining a position of preeminence in Middlebury athletics. He advocated the development of a permanent coaching staff and a fuller incorporation into this department of the matter of arranging schedules which in his opinion should include games with all of the leading New England colleges. Representing the alumni point of view he advised a more careful attention to press reports in the metropolitan centers than has been given in past seasons.

Additional remarks were made by Hon. Homer L. Skeels '98, of Ludlow, Dr. C. L. Leonard '95, Poultney, Hon. F. H. Allen, '00, Hartford, Conn., Harry F. Lake '99, Concord, N. H., and Ray L. Fisher '11, Middlebury, and Coach Arthur M. Brown, all expressing their confidence in the ability of the Blue representatives. The singing of the "Alma Mater" concluded the evening's program.

BISHOP '22 NEW HEAD OF APOLLO CLUB

The Apollo Club held its first meeting in the Latin room of Old Chapel last Wednesday at 4:15, discussing the subject of "Life in Ancient Egypt." Papers were read by Miss Gaylor, Miss Wiley and Miss Cass, supplemented by illustrations.

At present, class schedules hinder some of those eligible from attending the meetings but before the next session which is scheduled for November 24th it is hoped that a convenient hour and day will be fixed to accommodate the majority.

The dates fixed at present are:
Nov. 24—Latin Prose Program
Dec. 8—In charge of Prof. White
Jan. 5—In charge of Prof. Burrage
Jan. 19—Latin Comedy Section
The officers elected were:
President, J. M. Bishop.
Vive-President, Miss Sullivan.
Secretary, Miss St. Pierre.

A district meeting of the Vermont State Library Commission will meet at the Bixby Memorial Library, Vergennes, Thursday. Miss Bertha E. Wood will lead the discussions that are to take place.

MAIER-PATTISON RECITAL DEC. 1

TICKET SALE FOR SECOND OF WINTER CONCERTS THIS SATURDAY

Sale of tickets for the Maier-Pattison recital, the second of the College Entertainment course, which is to occur Wednesday evening, December 1st, will commence Saturday morning at the C. O. Frost pharmacy. In addition to the 472 subscriptions which have been made for the season's course of five entertainments the Committee on Student Life has approximately 125 seats for the next number which will be disposed of at this sale.,

Messrs. Maier and Pattison are two young Boston pianists who have devoted their musical training to the development of pianoforte performance. From the level of the vaudeville performance they have raised the status of their concerts to feasts of pure music. Their programs represent the best in musical literature. With an almost incredible synchronity they have merged their two personalities so completely that the music proceeds as from one mind.

Although comparatively unknown, this year has brought immediate recognition of the excellence of their art. In Paris, they received leave of absence from military duties long enough to give several recitals which met with immediate acclaim. London audiences, notably antipathetic to American musicians, accorded them ovation after ovation. The past few months have brought them triumphs in New York and other great musical centers. In Middlebury they will present an entertainment not only unusual but also artistic in the highest sense.

PROF. HARRINGTON IS SUNDAY SPEAKER

Professor Vernon C. Harrington of the College conducted the Vesper service last Sunday. He spoke upon the text "I have written unto you because you are strong," and chose as the subject of his sermon "A message to the strong."

In his talk he emphasized six elements which help to form that true life which is the heritage of the strong. First, the strong should rejoice in their strength, should meet faithfully the obligations that strength br ngswhtii obligations that strength brings with it, and should regard work as play, as a part of the great game of life. The strong should have a perfectly complete life and live up to all their physical, intellectual and spiritual possibilities, they shauld have the lion's spirit, and lastly the strong should endure to the end, that they might say in the words of Henley "I am the master of my fate, the captain of my soul."

Pearsons Hall Fire Drill

Pearsons Hall was emptied of its occupants in one minute and a half Thursday in the first of the year's fire-drills, directed by Janet M. Taylor '21. Fire captains were appointed for each floor and the resident body has been divided into three sections, two making use of the main exits and the other being assigned to the fire-escapes.

PRESS CLUB HEARS NOTED JOURNALIST

R. M. Collins '89, London Head of Associated Press, Lectured Last Wednesday

Robert M. Collins, of the class of '89, manager of the Associated Press in Great Britain spoke to members of the Press Club in the Old Chapel November tenth. He told of various experiences he had in his profession. At the time Doctor Cook returned from his pretended discovery of the North Pole, Mr. Collins went to Copenhagen to meet him representing the Associated Press. His account of the reception Dr. Cook received was very interesting. Mr. Collins was the chief correspondent of the Associated Press in the Philippine Islands during the insurrection in 1890, and sent the first news of General Lawton's Lake Cruz expedition and later of General Lawton's death. During the Boxer campaign in China in 1900 he held the same post, and was the first correspondent to get news through of the battle of Tien-Tsin. He reported the Peace Conference following the Spanish-American war at Paris, and was with General Kuroki's army throughout the Russo-Japanese War representing both the Associated Press and Reuter Telegram Company.

ANNUAL FROSH P-RADE OBSERVED SATURDAY

In accordance with ancient custom ye frosh laid by his pea green Saturday afternoon and arraying himself in shapes and forms indescribable and in some cases unmentionable hied himself forth into the public highway for the annual Freshman P-rade. The gold dust twins, the street sweeper, the hula maids, and other institutions hallowed by custom, were there as usual and furnished the objects of the "razzing" that the P-rade usually comes in for. The line of march was from Old Chapel through the main thoroughfares of the town and onto the field where the first quarter of the Vermont game had just started. No award of the Undergraduate Association prize has yet been announced.

MID-SEMESTER MARKS OUT THIS WEEK

Midsemester marks due November 16, may be received at the registrar's office sometime the last of this week.

The second half of the semester is marked by the Thanksgiving recess, November 25 and Christmas vacation, classes ending December 16 and resumed January 3, 1921. First semester ends February 5, second semester beginning February 5.

MANY ATTEND READING BY PROFESSOR WRIGHT

A large audience, composed of faculty and students from the College, and many townspeople attended the reading of "The Arkansaw Bear" by Professor Charles B. Wright last night in McCullough Gymnasium. Professor Wright was assisted by P. R. Webber '24, who, with his violin, impersonated the fiddler bear and by Alan Hunter '24 who gave a vocal interpretation of the Arkansaw traveler.

The proceeds from the entertainment were sufficient to cover the deficit in the expenses of the Des Moines Student Volunteer Convention last year.

PERSONAL

Alice Wilson '18, who is now teaching in Montpelier, was present at last week's game.

Among those of last year's alumnae who attended the U. V. M. game Saturday were Gertrude Graves, Alice Corttis, Ruth Cambridge and Madine Rogers.

Wasn't it fine—
The watched-for break in the green-gold line—
And the blue-white flash that was yours and mine—
Wasn't it fine?
Wasn't it great?
When two goals scored, as sure as fate,
Wiped past defeat clean off the slate,
Wasn't it great?
Isn't it neat?
That after you've scored such a wonderful beat
You cau come down here for a wonderful eat.
Isn't it neat?

TWO FIELD GOALS WIN FROM VERMONT

teams were off side on the following play. Drost gained a couple of yards and Ashley made another. Ashley failed to gain and punted, but U. V. M. was off side and the ball was brought back for the penalty. Quackenbush made a yard, and the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Second quarter. A forward pass was incomplete. Ashley gained two yards and then Quackenbush attempted a drop kick from the 35 yard mark which went wide. Johnson made a yard but Sullivan failed to gain around right end. Johnson netted three on a delayed cross buck and Drost made a good tackle on the play. Then Bellerose punted. Gollnick hit the line for a five yard gain. Drost made two more and Ashley punted. Keppler got Johnson before he got started on the next play and Vermont punted Drost was run on two plays and made five yards. Midd was off side, and Ashley was forced to punt. The ball was touched by a Vermont man and Drost at once fell on it. But Ashley fumbled on the next play and McMahon recovered for U. V. M. Cusmitch was set in to replace Capt. Schmitt of Vermont. Johnson failed to gain. Brown intercepted a forward pass and made 10 yards before he was stopped Ashley and Quackenbush both failed in attempts around right end. McMahon blocked Quackenbush in his try at a drop kick. Johnson went through left tackle for five yards and Semansky made down on the following play. A pass was incompleted. Gollnick got Semansky on his play around right end. A punt to Quackenbush gave the ball to Midd again. Ashley returned the punt. Two forward passes by Bellerose were incompleted. Reinbrecht got Johnson behind the line for a loss on the next play. Another forward failed and Midd took the ball on downs. An incomplete pass was followed by a small gain by Drost. Ashley punted out of bounds and Vermont at once returned the kick. Ashley again kicked to mid-field. A forward pass to Semansky gave the visitors 7 yards. Ashley cut off Bellerose on his 12 yard run around the end when he threatened to go for a touchdown. Bellerose attempted a drop kick which ran along on the ground. The half ended on the play following on the 20 yard line where the ball was brought after the kick.

Vermont Offensive Fails

Third quarter. Midd kicked off to start the half, with another short kick McMahon was downed on the 30-yard line. Bellerose made a couple of yards and Johnson failed to gain. On an end around play Sunderland made two yards. An exchange of punts was made and Vermont had the ball again. Semansky and Johnson failed to gain and two forward passes were tried, the first of which failed and the second was intercepted by Drost. Ashley failed to gain and punted. Semansky made 8 yards but that was off-set by a 15-yard penalty on Vermont for holding. Bellerose punted. Drost and Quackenbush failed to make any gain and Ashley punted. Quackenbush was knocked out tackling Bellerose but remained in the game. Brown caught Granger for a 10-yard loss when he ran back on an attempted wide end run. Johnson made five yards through the line and then Bellerose punted over the goal line. Ashley punted to Semansky who ran the ball back to the 50-yard mark. Johnson made three yards, Sullivan failed to gain, and then Semansky made first down. Johnson made two more but Sullivan fumbled on the following play and Reinbrecht recovered. Gollnick netted four yards on two line plunges and Ashley made first down for Midd. Drost made two more but Margolsky intercepted a pass on the next play giving the ball to U. V. M. Nowland replaced Cusmitch. Semansky made two yards around end and Johnson hit the line for two more. Two passes failed and the ball went to Midd. Ashley gained two around end before the quarter was over.

Whistle Halts Third Score

Fourth quarter. Ashley punted to Semansky. Sunderland made another slight gain on an end play. Brigham threw Granger for a loss on the same kind of play. Then Vermont punted. Drost made a yard end Ashley broke loose for 15 yards on a cross buck. Drost failed to gain and then Ashley was run on two successive plays making first down. Midd was given a penalty for delay. Gollnick made three yards and Ashley went through for another. Then Quackenbush got off a successful drop kick from the 25-yard line. Midd kicked off to Johnson who was downed by Brigham. Semansky made a couple of yards and Johnson failed to gain. Johnson was nailed by Reinbrecht breaking through again and Bellerose punted. Quackenbush did not gain and Midd punted. Sunderland made a small gain and Johnson got around end for first down. Brigham got Semansky for a loss. A pass failed and Gollnick got Sullivan on his try around end. Potratz replaced Kalin who was moved to center when Moynahan was injured. An exchange of punts gave Vermont the ball again. Bellerose fumbled and was downed on his 10-yard line. He punted to safety. Drost cut loose for 15 yards on the first play, but Midd was off side. Gollnick made five, however, and Quackenbush made his final trial at a drop kick from the 40-yard mark which was blocked. Midd got a penalty for holding. Vermont opened up with four passes which failed, and Midd took the ball on downs. Drost and Ashley did not gain and Ashley punted over the goal line. Vermont tried a forward pass which Ashley intercepted on the 35-yard line and he was not tackled until he was within inches of scoring a touchdown. Before a play could be run to put the ball over the whistle stopped the game.
